Dear Homeowners and Residents,

We are pleased to present the newly adopted Code of Conduct for King City Civic Association. The Board worked hard to develop and adopt this policy establishing minimum standards of conduct for the Board, Committee Members and residents with respect to their Association interactions. Implementing this Code of Conduct will better protect the Association and its members from the kinds of foreseeable harm to the community arising from conduct failing to meet minimum standards. In particular, this policy aims to foster professional Board and Association meetings, ensure the Board and members maintain a high standard of ethical conduct in the performance of Association business, ensure the quiet use and enjoyment for all residents, and prescribe enforcement procedures applicable to all members.

We ask that you please read the Code of Conduct.

The Code of Conduct serves several vital purposes, among other things.

- Clarity and Consistency: It sets forth minimum standards of conduct for residents, Board members, and committee participants in their interactions within and pertaining to the Association.
- Enforcement Mechanism: It provides the framework for addressing violations, including a fair and transparent process for enforcement and resolution.
- Meeting Conduct: It establishes guidelines for how HOA meetings are to be conducted, emphasizing civility, order, and constructive dialogue—so that all participants feel heard and respected.
- Additional Provisions: The Code also includes standards for neighbor-to-neighbor interactions, and participation in HOA governance.

KCCAs goal is to foster a positive and inclusive community where residents can engage productively and respectfully. We believe this document will help prevent misunderstandings, reduce conflict, and create a more harmonious environment for all.

We encourage every member of the community to review the Code in full and reach out with any questions or feedback. Thank you for your cooperation and commitment to making King City Civic Association a great place to live.

Sincerely,
KCCA Board of Directors

A. BOARD RESPONSIBILITIES

Association Directors are generally responsible for enforcing the Association's Governing Documents, collecting, and maintaining the Association's financial resources, insuring the Association's assets against loss, and keeping the Common Areas maintained and in a state of good repair. In carrying out these responsibilities, Directors must use their best efforts to:

1. Regularly attend Board meetings.
2. Review material provided in preparation for Board meetings.
3. Review the Association's financial reports.
4. Make reasonable inquiry on matters on the agenda before making decisions.

Each Director and Officer must conduct themselves in dealings with third parties, in good faith, and in the best interests of the Association. Directors and Officers must safeguard and keep confidential information they receive in executive session, and other proprietary or confidential information that belongs to the Association and that they receive through their role as Association Directors.

1. Fiduciary. Directors and Officers shall recognize their fiduciary obligation to act on behalf of all members of the Association. They shall act only in the best interests of the Association. They shall use sound business judgment in all decision making and shall comply with the Association's governing documents and applicable law. Directors will not make any contributions to any political parties or political candidates by the Association.

2. Private Gain; Self-dealing. Directors and Officers shall not self-deal or act for their own private gain in serving on the Board. Private gain and self-dealing occur when Directors make decisions that materially benefit themselves, spouses, friends, relations, or anyone who shares a personal or financial interest with the Director, at the expense of the Association. Such benefits may include money, privileges, special benefits, overlooking delinquency or violations of the Governing Documents, gifts, or any other item of value. Accordingly, no Director shall:

- b. Negotiate or provide instructions to, or contract with vendors without prior Board approval.

As such, they may not use confidential information for their personal benefit or that of their friends or relatives. Directors shall not share any confidential information obtained as a Board member with any non-Board members or third parties (other than agents, representatives, or employees of the Association who also are bound to maintain the confidentiality of the information received).

Confidential information includes, without limitation:

- a. Private or personal information about any Association Owner or resident.
- b. Private or personal information about any of the Association employees.

- e. Legal matters in which the Association is or may be involved. Directors may not discuss the merits of pending legal matters in which the Association is involved, with persons not on the Board. Failure to follow these requirements may constitute a breach of the attorney-client privilege and may result in the loss of confidentiality in the information released.

4. Accuracy of Information. All Association data, records, and reports conveyed must be accurate and truthful, in all material respects, and prepared in a proper manner. No Director shall knowingly misrepresent facts when acting as an agent of the Association or the Board, including to Owners, residents, vendors, contractors, suppliers, other agents of the Association, or members of the public.

5. Interaction with Vendors and Management. To ensure efficient management operations, avoid conflicting instructions from the Board to management and avoid potential liability, Directors and Officers shall observe the following guidelines:

- a. The Board president shall serve as liaison between the Board and management and provide direction on day-to-day matters including but not limited to determining items to be on the agenda for upcoming meetings. The Board president may delegate certain areas of responsibility to certain Directors who then become the liaison with management in those delegated areas of responsibility.
- b. Directors may not give direction to management, employees, or vendors unless acting as an authorized Officer of the Board within the scope such Officer's authority and duty, or unless otherwise expressly authorized by the Board or these rules to do so.

- e. No Director shall interfere with a contractor engaged by the Association while a contract is in progress or being negotiated by another Board member or duly authorized agent of the Association. All communications with Association contractors shall be in accordance with Association policies and practices.

6. Professional Behavior. Directors and Officers are obligated to act with proper decorum during Board meetings or at any time they are carrying out the business of the Association, and shall observe the following guidelines:

- a. Although a Director may disagree with the opinions of others on the Board, or with the vote of the majority, they must treat all Board members with respect, be sensitive to individual differences, respectful of dissenting opinions, and carry out the decision of the Board as voted by the majority. Directors shall act in accordance with Board decisions and shall not act unilaterally or contrary to the Board's decisions.
- b. Directors are expected to conduct themselves with courtesy toward each other, and toward managing agents, vendors, and Association Owners and residents.
- c. Language and decorum in communications when acting as a Board member or as an agent of the Association shall be kept professional and respectful. Personal attacks, threats, harassment, or defaming comments against Owners, residents, managers, service providers, contractors, subcontractors, Officers, and Directors, or anyone else when a Director is communicating in their role as an agent of the Association are prohibited and are not consistent with the best interests of the community.
- d. As such, they may not use confidential information for their personal benefit or that of their friends or relatives. Committee members shall not share any confidential information obtained as committee members with any non-Board and non-committee members or third parties (other than agents, representatives, or employees of the Association who also are bound to maintain the confidentiality of the information received).

3. Accuracy of Information. All Association data, records, and reports conveyed must be accurate and truthful, in all material respects, and prepared in a proper manner. No committee member shall knowingly misrepresent facts when acting as an agent of the Association or the Board, including to
